Integrative practitioners who wish to incorporate German Biological Medicine (GBM) into their daily practices often face a learning curve. With 20 years clinical experience – including 14 years using the PEKANA homeopathic-spagyrics, sanPharma immune metabolics and Ormed supplements – Judy Loring can provide invaluable support in choosing appropriate remedies for your patients.

In addition, she will help you learn how to artfully combine and dose remedies in a protocol, offer clinical pearls, and, importantly, explain how to work with sensitive patients. Judy's work experience with several major supplement companies also has helped her become well versed in teaching practitioners how to integrate nutritional support, herbal therapies, and functional medicine with GBM.

Educational & Clinical Background

Judy Loring, C.N. has practiced as a Clinical Nutritionist for 23 years, and worked with BioResource remedies since 2005.

After earning a degree in Environmental Studies from Sonoma State University, she received her Clinical Nutrition Certification in 1996 from The Institute of Educational Therapy (now known as the Bauman School). Judy completed a two-year graduate training program at CIIS in San Francisco in the Integrative Health Studies Program and, in 1997, completed a nine-month Advanced Clinical Herbalism program with Dr. Lois Johnson, M.D.

Judy has maintained a private practice in Nutrition Counseling in Marin County since 1996. Her extensive background in the natural medicine field included working for several well-known companies with professional Nutritional Supplement lines (Tyler Encapsulations, Allergy Research Group, Biotics Research, and Researched Nutritionals) and Functional Medicine Labs (Doctor's Data), where she helped handle practitioner support, education and product development for the licensed health care market.

As a member of the International Lyme and Associated Diseases Society (ILADS), Judy has worked closely with many physicians around the country who specialize in tick-borne infections, teaching them how to integrate the PEKANA and sanPharma remedies, as well as the Ormed herbal formulas and essential oil tinctures, into their practices.

From Judy:

"German Biological Medicine is a healing modality that encourages the practitioner to treat the patient, and not the disease. With the homotoxicology model, we are always looking at the constitution of the patient, how long they have been sick, how stable or fragile they are, and how encumbered with toxins or pathogens they may be, in determining the most appropriate starting remedies and how to dose. While GBM is not as "protocol driven" as functional medicine, with training the practitioner can begin to understand how to customize remedy protocols directed to their specific patient.

"The PEKANA and sanPharma remedies can be used in acute as well as chronic cases. While in acute cases they can often be successfully used alone, in chronic conditions they are most often used adjunctively and synergistically with other therapies, including nutritional supplements, western and Chinese herbs, and even pharmaceuticals when necessary. The beauty of these remedies is that they will potentiate other healing modalities and make everything else the practitioner is doing work more effectively. Practitioners should think about these as another set of invaluable tools for their toolbox.

"The PEKANA remedies can be the missing piece in helping to restore vitality to the nervous system, and in naturally supporting the excretion of toxins and pathogens. The sanPharma remedies are derived from the metabolites of microorganisms, and offer a unique and effective way to downregulate inflammation and modulate the immune system. With the explosion of research in the microbiome, we are just beginning to understand how microbes play a role in supporting health and how these remedies derived from microorganisms can promote the body's natural self-healing process and shift in the biological terrain. BioResource also distributes the ORMED herbal and essential oil anti-microbial tinctures. These have proven very effective at shifting the terrain, lowering the microbial load and reducing the most common symptoms often seen with chronic infections.

"I really enjoy educating practitioners on how to integrate these remedies into their practices. It is especially rewarding to hear feedback on how they have benefited patients, including helping to "unblock" extremely tough cases. I look forward to hearing from you on the new Tech Support line."
